

Certificate of Compliance

Our venting systems "TYPES " -FOOD" is in conformity with the following regulations:

Food Contact

- Polymer: EU directive 1935/2004/EC, CE 10/2011 , the new edition of the German "Bedarfsgegenständeverordnung" of December 23, 1997¹ , without restrictions
- Additives: EU directive 1935/2004/EC, CE 10/2011 or in the recommendations III "Polyethylene" of BfR^{1/2} (Bundesinstitut für Risikobewertung)
- Code of Federal Regulations Title 21, § 177.1520 "Olefin Polymers"¹ of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) of April 1, 2007

European Pharmacopoeia

- EP 6.0 Edition Monograph 3.1.3., 3.1.5. and 3.2.2. of July 16, 2007

Heavy Metals

- ELV Directive 2000/53/EC (heavy metals)
- CONEG requirements,

Additional Requirements

- CEN Standard EN 71.3
- EU directive 94/62/EC and amendment 2004/12/EC
- EU directive 2002/96/EC (WEEE-Waste on Electrical and Electronic Equipment) and 2003/108/EC
- EU directive 2002/95/EC /RoHS-Restriction of use of certain Hazardous Substances) and 2005/717/EC
- EU directive 2003/11/EC
- EU directive 2000/2037/EC
- do not contain Phthalate like DEHP, DBP, DIDP, BBP, DIOP, DEP, DCHP, DMCHP and DMEP
- do not contain Biphenyls like PCBs, PBBs, PCTs, PBDE and PBT
- do not contain Asbestos
- do not contain Acryl amide

This material does not have toxicity properties as long as it is correctly handled, processed and used according to the Material Safety Data Sheet (MSDS) recommendations.

No evidence of acute toxicity reported.

No known reports of skin sensitization.

No reports of adverse long-term effects following repeated exposure.

Independent from this conformation it is the responsibility of the producer of the final device to fulfill all necessary legal requirements for its intended use.

VENTIX GmbH

¹ in its valid version

² Federal Institute for Risk Assessment, former BgVV